Why do I get a "Port already listening" SocketException when calling listen()?

A `java.net.SocketException` "Port already listening" is thrown by `TransportMapping.listen()` (or `Snmp.listen()`) if that `listen()` method has been called before without an intermediate `TransportMapping.close()` call. That is, you tried to put the transport mapping into listen mode twice.

See also: Can I use a TransportMapping with two Snmp instances?